NAUTCH PARTY TO MR. JUSTICE SCOTT.—Mr. Chatoorbhooj Morarjee, a well-known Bombay merchant, and a member of the executive committee of the Bombay Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, gives a nautch party to-day, at 5-30 p. m. at his bungalow at Tardeo, in honor of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Scott, who leaves Bombay to-morrow. Mr. Scott has been a member of the committee of the society for upwards of six years, and his colleagues on the committee and other friends will be glad to meet him to-day on the eve of his departure. Invitations have been issued to most of the leading European and native citizens.

FORSAKING HIS WIFE AND FAMILY.—A woman, named Eliza Goldenberg, yesterday appeared before Mr. C. P. Cooper, Chief Presidency Magistrate, at the Esplanade Police Courts, carrying an infant in her arms, and handed up a petition in which it was stated that she was the lawful married wife of a man, named Isaac Goldenberg, a native of Roumania, a hair-cutter by trade. Her husband had eloped from Bombay in company of a woman named Ivy, and is said to have proceeded to Calcutta three days ago without making the least provision for them. The petitioner begged that her husband might be dealt with according to law, and that steps might be taken for the due protection of herself and her child in Bombay. The Bench ordered the issue of a summons.

DROWNED AT SEA.—A Coroner's inquest was held yesterday at the morgue on the body of Shaik Ismail Koothoodeen, aged 25 years, a calasee, employed on board a coal barge, belonging to the B. I. S. N. Company, and living on the barge. On Wednesday morning, at 5 o'clock, the tindal of the barge was awakened by hearing a noise. He then saw the stage fall into the water, and Shaik Ismail was at the time missing. The stage had given way, and it was seen that two of its four eyebolts had been pulled out. The stage was put up four years ago, was repaired two years ago, and had not been examined since. The crew then dragged around the barge, and about 3 p. m. the body of the deceased was recovered, life then being extinct. The jury returned the following verdict :—"That the death of the deceased was caused by his having been accidentally drowned in the sea."

ROBBING A STRANGER.—Luximon Sonoo, a Hindoo youth, of about eighteen years of age, was yesterday placed before the Chief Presidency Magistrate by Inspector Hack, at the Esplanade Police Courts, on the charge of theft of Rs. 74 in cash on the 15th instant. Bhaichund Ramchund, a druggist, appeared to complain, and said he lately arrived in Bombay from a village near Kholapore, and put up with a friend in Chumpa Gully. On Monday evening he hung a canvas bag on a peg in the diwankhana, containing the money, which was found missing on the following morning. The complainant added that he did not report the theft to the police who, however, brought the youth to the house on the following day, having arrested him with the money and property in his possession. The prisoner pleaded guilty, and said he spent Rs. 4, in purchasing some cloth. The Magistrate convicted and commited him to the common jail to undergo three months' hard labour.

DISFIGURING A WIFE.—Abdool Rahman, a Mahomedan weaver, living at Cammateepoora, was again charged by Inspector Hiscocks before Mr. Hamilton, the Second Presidency Magistrate, at the Girgaum Court yesterday, with having, on the morning of the 4th instant, voluntarily caused grievous hurt to his wife, named Fatma, by cutting off her nose. The facts of the case have already been reported. Dr. J. Gallagher, house surgeon of the J. J. Hospital, said that, about 6 o'clock on the morning of the 4th instant, the woman Fatma was brought to the hospital, by police sepoy 547 E, suffering from an incised wound of the nose, completely removing the whole of the soft parts and a portion of the upper lip. The wound was about two and a quarter inches in length, and one a quarter inches in breadth. Her clothes were stained with blood, also her hands. The wound appeared to have been caused by the knife (produced). The woman, Fatma, is still under treatment at the hospital. On the evidence adduced the prisoner was sentenced to two years' imprisonment with hard labour.

AN AUDACIOUS PAIR OF THIEVES.—Mahomed Ally Rajbhai and Bhaiji Abdool, two Borahs, were charged on remand at the Esplanade Police Courts yesterday, before Mr. C. W. Richardson, Third Presidency Magistrate, by Constable Ellis, of the A Division, with stealing, on the 20th of March, a box of glass bangles, valued at Rs. 100. It transpired that the prisoners engaged a ticca at the stand in the vicinity of the Bazaar Gate Police Station, and drove to the premises of Sorabjee Framjee Kurwarana, a merchant in Bazaar Gate Street, where they removed the property to the conveyance at Tawa, and proposed to transmit it to some goods in Cammateepoora. Just as they arrived at Duncan Road, Bhaiji Abdool, who seated himself inside the conveyance on top of the box with his accomplice following in sight of it, was stopped by a policeman. Bhaiji, when arrested, made a statement to the policeman implicating the first prisoner in the theft who was subsequently apprehended. Evidence in support of the offence was led. Both the prisoners pleaded guilty and were each sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for one year. A second charge of theft of a Persian carpet estimated to cost Rs. 65 was laid against the first prisoner, Mahomedally Rajbhai, who was also convicted of this offence and sentenced by the Magistrate to an additional term of eight months' hard labour.

ATTEMPTED HOUSEBREAKING.—Gandasing Narayansing, a native of Northern India and an ex-soldier of the 10th Regiment Light Infantry, was placed on remand before Mr. C. W. Richardson, Third Presidency Magistrate yesterday, at the Esplanade Police Court, by Inspector Hack of the C Division, for the offence of attempted house-breaking by night. In this case the evidence disclosed that the prisoner was arrested on the 8th instant by a policeman on the Kalbadevie Road, while he was tampering with a large padlock on the door of No. 211 shop, owned by Dewji Lowji, a photographer, with a bunch of keys. When interrupted by the sepoy, Gandasing told him that he was opening up his own premises. The charge was not admitted by the accused and his defence was that he was under the influence of intoxicating drugs at the time, which made him very giddy. The Magistrate told the prisoner that he must have been discharged from his regiment for grave reasons and the reason he gave himself did not appear to be true. His Worship convicted him of the offence and sent him to jail to undergo rigorous imprisonment for six months. The prisoner made a request to the Bench that his head might not be shaved in jail, but was told to make this application to the jail authorities.

PRESENTATION OF AN ADDRESS.—A large and influential gathering assembled at the house of Mr. Kamalsi Premji, at Nagdeir Street, on Wednesday evening, for presentation of an address to Vaidya Bhaskar Pandit Lalchandra, M. R. A. S. (London), given to Maharaja Keshoresingji, Commander-in-Chief and brother to H. H. the Maharaja Saheb of Jodhpur, G.C.S.I. Amongst those present were Sir Jamsetji Jeejeebhoy, Bart. C. S. I., C. I. E., Sir Dinshaw M. Petit, Bart. Messrs. Vageshanker Gowrishankar, Vandrawandas Purshottamdas, J.P., Liladhar Jeramdas Naranji, J.P., Khimji Jairam Naranji, J.P., Karimbhai Ebrahim, J.P., Shewji Dharmaji, Dharamsi Sunderdas, Moolji Gokuldas, Kandas Parekh, B.A., L.L.B., Ranchordas Vandrawandas Purshotamdas, Guljee Singoji, Doctors Bullel and P. N. Davda, Jamsetji Cursetjee Jamsetji and Rao Bahadur Doji Gangaji Rane, besides several others representing different communities. The hall, which was very tastefully decorated, was densely crowded with guests, who were received at the entrance by Messrs. Vandrawandas Purshotamdas and Kamalsi Premji, and at 6-30 p.m. the proceedings commenced. The address, which is framed in Gujerati language, was then read by Mr. Girjashankar and afterwards the learned Panditji gave in reply a short but interesting speech. The learned Panditji and his two brothers, who also have accompanied him here, were subsequently decorated with elegant garlands of flowers by Mr. Kamalsi Premji; and after the usual distribution of garlands and bouquets to all present, the guests took their departure.

HIS REMARKS SEALED HIS GUILT.—At the Esplanade Police Courts yesterday, before Mr. C. W. Richardson, Third Presidency Magistrate, Ibrahim Mahomed and Kharim Khameesa appeared on remand ; the first to answer the charges of theft of a gold watch and silver chain, valued at Rs. 147, under Section 380 ; breaking open a clothes receptacle, under Section 461, and being in possession of the chain, for which he could not give a satisfactory account, under Section 35 ; and the second prisoner for being in possession of stolen property, contrary to the provisions of Sections 411 and 414 of Indian Pendal Code. Mr. W. Strenach, Chief Engineer of the s. s. Vectis, testified and identified the property and the prisoners who usually were employed on the vessel in cleaning the stoke-room and boilers. On Saturday last the first prisoner remarked to the officer that the watch was a valuable one, when the latter went to get a sovereign from his drawer to pay him for his day's work. On the following Monday Mr. Strenach went ashore leaving his chest-of-drawers unlocked, and on his return at noon he missed both the watch and chain. His suspicions fell upon Ibrahim who was handed over to the police, from whose enquiries the watch was traced to a Marwaree with whom the boiler-cleaner pledged it. During the prosecution of police enquiries Karim Khameesa was overheard telling one of his acquaintances to go to his (the prisoner's) house on the pretence of getting an umbrella and tell his wife to make away with the chain immediately. But "forewarned is forearmed" and before the message could be delivered the police had entered the house and secured the the chain. The Magistrate convicted both prisoners on the evidence adduced, and sentenced Ibrahim Mahomed, against whom there were several previous convictions, to an aggregate term of three years and three months' rigorous imprisonment. Karim Khameesa, his accomplice, was sent to jail for three months' hard labour as this was his first offence.

SAILORS AND THEIR MONEY.—At the Girgaum Police Court before Mr. Hamilton, the Second Presidency Magistrate, a marwaree named Oomchand Hukma, appeared to answer a summons taken out against him by one Yussufally on a charge of cheating in respect of Rs. 60. Mr. D. Sealy, vakeel, appeared to prosecute, while Mr. Nusserwanjee Nowrojee defended the accused. It appears that, on the 30th ultimo the complainant, and his two Mahomedan friends received their pay from the shipping office in currency notes, and as they wanted to go to Calcutta the next day, the complainant and his friends called at the shop of the accused at New Nazpada to have the notes cashed. Having fixed the rate of discount, viz : one anna and a half for Rs. 100, the two friends of the complainant received Rs. 150 and Rs. 95 for the currency notes, which they handed over to the accused. The complainant stated that he handed over Rs. 95 in notes, but the marwaree paid him only Rs. 35 in cash, and requested him to call for the other Rs. 60 an hour after. Yussufally again went to the shop and asked the balance, when the accused asked for the notes, that he might pay them in silver. The complainant said he was taken by surprise to hear this, and protested, but in vain. A disturbance then took place and the police were called in, and they referred him to the Magistrate. Mr. Nusserwanjee, for the defance, urged that it was not likely that the complainant, who was a stranger in Bombay, would confide in the accused and leave his currency notes in his possession. The pleader contended that either the complainant never received the sum of Rs. 95 that day from the Shipping Office or that he must have lost it somewhere. A witness was called, who proved that when the complainant called in the evening of the day in question he enquired if the marwaree knew anything of his currency notes for Rs. 60, which were missing. The Magistrate on the evidence came to the conclusion that there was no reliable evidence to prove the charge, and discharged the accused.

PRIZE-DISTRIBUTION AT THE CLARE ROAD CONVENT.

THE annual distribution of prizes, in connection with the Clare Road Convent, Byculla, took place yesterday evening. The very Rev. Father Dalhoff, Administrator Apostolic of Bombay presided, there were also present, the Rev. Fr. Fibus, S. J., the Rector of St. Mary's College, Father Althoff, and Father Boswin, and a few others. The evening's entertainment was opened by a quartette, rendered by the Misses B. Dolley, E. Soares, Do Rosario, and E. Borell, who acquitted themselves very creditably. A glee "Youth, Joy, and Hope" followed, sung by the school choir. A cantata by the junior pupils, entitled "The White Garland" was appreciated, the several performers taking their parts in a manner which spoke well for their training. The principal item on the programme was a drama performed in three acts, entitled "Miriam," the characters being sustained by Miss E. Soares, Miss Elva Fern, Miss E. Borell, Miss D. Lyons, Miss E. Waite, and Miss W. Farron.

After this performance the song, "Let us Roam" was given by the school choir. The prizes were then distributed to the successful students.

The singing of the National Anthem terminated the proceedings.

MR. J. G. INGLE, M.I.C.E., has been permitted to retire from the service.

THE subject of compulsory vaccination has lately had considerable attention drawn to it in Bangalore. It exists, it is believed by a local paper, in the Civil and Military Station, but not in the City, which is within the jurisdiction of the Mysore Durbar. The Mysore Government, however, has decided to take steps to introduce compulsory vaccination in the Pettah Municipality, and draft rules on the subject are under consideration.

A HOME FOR CATHOLIC APPRENTICES.

Mr. J. Kenny sends us a copy of an appeal for a Catholic Apprentices' Home, in the course of which he says :—In the first place, very few know that such an institution has been started and I am confident its objects need but to be known to receive cheerful support, not only from old school-boys who have left St. Mary's and from Catholics throughout the Presidency, but also, I have no doubt, from all those interested in the poor European and Eurasian beginning the struggle of life. The other reason why I think it requisite to bring the subject once more before the public is that, the original project being somewhat modified, those who have charitably aided the work may be informed of the changes that have taken place.

If the lads were got together into one building it would be very inconvenient for them because many who could ill afford even train hire would be taken miles away from their places of business. Besides the hours for meals, etc., would be inconvenient and perhaps cause great confusion or hardship. But the chief difficulty was the question of supervision. Even if a trustworthy man or woman could be got to look after the house there was always the danger of too strict a discipline or downright laxity in the enforcement of the rules. The former would be borne unwillingly and might tempt the lads to liberty and the slums, the latter might be quarters compared with which a bad barrack-room must be an example of righteousness.

Even were the happy medium struck, the sprit of independence and manliness which the committee think should be fostered, would probably soon disappear. It was for these reasons decided that, instead of a house specially selected for all those who should receive aid from the society, endeavours should be made to arrange terms with respectable boarding house-keepers in the districts in which the lads had their places of business. In this manner each lad could be near his work, his conduct would be looked to by the landlady, and no further interference with him in matters either religious or social would be tolerated than was absolutely necessary. The parish priest would see that he conducted himself as one of his parishioners ought to, the committee that he kept to his work and paid them his earnings till his pay enabled him to live without their aid. Of course different members of the committee would occasionally call upon him as friends, and besides the payment of his board and lodging they would see that he had spare money for the purchase of necessary articles of clothing, etc. This idea met with the approval of every member of the sub-committee, received the placet of the Union and will, I hope, find favour with those who have so charitably subscribed already and those who by means of this letter first hear of the institution. That the Catholic apprentices' home run on these lines, will be well supported by the general public is my earnest hope and I beg of you to be so good as to call the attention of your readers to this appeal for funds, which may be sent by people in Bombay to Mr. J. F. Pereira, Government Secretariat, the honorary secretary, Bombay. For collections from out-stations I have been appointed joint honorary treasurer.

A LONDON telegram to hand this evening announces an advance of ½ per cent. in the Bank of England rate to-day, making it stand at 3½ per cent., following a further drop of ½ in Consols yesterday at 96; and a rise to the same extent in the Market rate of discount on short London Bills, at 3 per cent., which was also the rate on six months' sight Indian Bank Paper, at a reduction of ¼ from Tuesday's quotation. Indian Sterling Loan was again ½ per cent. lower, at 106¼. Bar Silver declined 1d. per oz., say to 44 9-16d.; but Four per cent. Rupee Securities were unchanged at £74¾; 4½ per cents being ½ lower at £76⅞. In New York, Silver was unchanged at 97⅞ cents, with Exchange unaltered, at 4·88½ dollars; and further purchases by the U. At the weekly Biddings for Indian Council Bills in London yesterday, the whole 50 lakhs was placed at 1s. 5 1-16d., Bombay taking 23 lakhs, Calcutta 14 lakhs, and Madras 13 lakhs; the rate obtained being 1-16d. below that of last week's allotments, no extra Bills to speak of having been placed in the interval. Fifty lakhs, it is announced, will be offered next Wednesday. The Exchange Banks' buying rate on India at 30 days' sight was put down 1-16, making it 1s. 4 15-16d.

The Liverpool Cottton market closed quiet, all round, yesterday, the Sales showing rather more activity at 8,000 bales, inclusive of 600 Surats. Both spot and arrival prices were quite unchanged. The day's Imports were 6,000 bales. The Manchester Market was quiet.

In New York also prices of Cotton were quite unaltered at 8 15-16 cents, for ready Mid.-Uplands, and 8·79 cents, for July Futures. The Receipts at the U. S. Ports were 9,000 bales, making the comparison between the present season's arrivals, and those during the two proceeding years stand as follows:—

Wednesday's Receipts	9,000	3,000	5,000.
Four days' do.	50,000	13,000	24,000.

Our Cocal Cotton Market remains dull in tone, with little doing for the Mills, and less for export; but no further change in rates has taken place. Spinners have taken 1,100 bales to-day, consisting of 200 bales each of Dhamergaum, at Rs. 170½; and Broach, at 197; 100 bales each of Jhansi, at Rs. 154; Baroda Ginned, at Rs. 168; Compta, at Rs. 167; Untni, at Rs. 163; and Chalisgaum, at Rs. 148; 75 each Morvi, at Rs. 177½; and Unjari, at Rs. 167; and 50 Bhownuggur, at Rs. 179½; while the purchases for export have been only 300 Bengals at Rs. 149-50; 200 Bhownugger, at Rs. 182; 100 Jafferabad, at Rs. 176½; and 50 Untni, at Rs. 168 per candy.

WHEAT and SEEDS have been steady at previous rates for all descriptions; but only a moderate business has been done in either market to-day.

FREIGHTS are firm. Speculators have again taken up several steamers, and have paid 27s. 6d. for April-May, and 25s. 6d. for June loading, for one port under open charter. Business has been done for Continental ports at 26s. 6d. to 27s. per ton for May shipment, and 25s. to 25s. 6d. for June.

EXCHANGE opened quiet at 1-32d. decline from last evening's rates, and closed without further movement. A fair amount of three months' sight sterling credits have been sold at 1s. 5 9-32d., and Francs, 1·82, for delivery well into May; and at 1s. 5 5-16d. and 1·82¼ respectively, for all June; but very little has been done in Bank Paper. A considerable proportion of Merchants' Paper is now sold in Francs, owing to the large shipments of Produce to Marseilles, a line of a million Francs being not uncommon. We quote ready:—

The Bombay Gazette

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1891.

THE material for a history of recent events in Manipur is accumulating, though it is still something short of completeness. The narrative which we published on Monday has been vouched for to the Englishman by one of the officers who escaped as the most correct that has yet appeared, and it has since been confirmed and supplemented by statements of great interest. Captain Boileau's narrative, as we have shown, bears out, so far as it goes, the information contained in our correspondent's telegram. Yesterday we published a statement made by Mr. Williams, the telegraph signaller, who was the only captive bearing a European name whom the Manipuris allowed to leave their custody. This account brings a good many new facts into view, and corrects at least one surmise. At Simla it was believed that Mr. Quinton and Colonel Skene and their companions were killed on the 24th of March, the day of fighting and parley and capture. It appears now that this is a mistake. Mr. Williams, who was arrested on the 26th and taken to Manipur on the 27th, says that the Chief Commissioner and the other officials were not in gaol, but were well treated and allowed every comfort. He gives no account of the death of the captives, though this must have happened before the 4th of April, for when on that day he went, for the second time, to Colonel Howlett at Thobal, with proposals from the Maharajah, he "told him all he knew about the Manipur affair, and about the death of the Chief Commissioner." An important hiatus in the narrative therefore remains to be filled in, and the material for this, though not entirely lacking, is still far from reliable. In asserting that Mr. Quinton and his companions were well treated Mr. Williams confirms the earlier news that reached Kohima—news which we have reason to believe was quite in accordance with the expectations entertained by the Government themselves. There was, besides, the fact—whatever the real significance of it may be—that Mr. Grimwood was friendly with the Jubraj—too friendly, indeed, in the opinion of the exiled Maharajah who is now at Calcutta. If it should prove, therefore, that the captives were alive, and in comparative comfort for a week after the fighting on the 24th, there will be no room for the theory suggested in a report that has reached Kohima that the execution of the captives was in revenge for the Goorkhas having, by accident, killed some women and children belonging to the Jubraj when they went to his palace to arrest him. A measure of revenge provoked under such circumstances would have been much more likely to be carried out in the heat of the moment than after a week or ten days' delay. Besides, is it likely that the immediate offenders being Goorkha sepoys the Jubraj would have limited his revenge to the European officers? The more likely explanation, if as now appears Mr. Quinton and his companions were not killed on the night of the 24th of March, is that they remained in captivity until the news of Lieutenant Grant's exploit at Thobal reached Manipur, and that it was in exasperation at the episode, or possibly in defiance of the advancing forces, that they were put to death.

There now comes the question how far the Maharajah and the Jubraj were personally concerned in the outrage. We must be prepared for the excuse that the actual culprits were not these high-placed men, but the mob of Kuki and Naga irregulars who were congregated at the capital, and who were ready not only to do their leader's bidding but also to go beyond it. All that need now be said on that point is that the Jubraj does not speak like one whose orders have been exceeded by over-zealous followers. He boasts that though the British Government may have his corpse they will never have him alive. Government meanwhile are doing their best, by the offer of liberal rewards, to bring his boast to no effect, and are accepting, as at all events a working hypothesis, the guilty complicity of Kula Chandra Sing and Takendrajit in the outrage. Their quarrel, they are careful to make it known, is not with the Manipuris as such, but with their leaders only. As far as the people themselves are concerned an amnesty is offered to all who submit and lay down their arms. This will discourage—if such discouragement were necessary—the idea of reprisals being exacted from the Manipuris, and will considerably facilitate the first part of our task—the capture, namely of the Maharajah and of the Jubraj. Whatever their part in the execution of the captives may prove to have been, they are equally impossible personages in Manipur. It cannot be tolerated that a Native State in political relationship with the British Government should under any circumstances resist by force of arms the mandate of British officers, and the ruler under whose authority such resistance was offered must certainly be removed. It has been suggested by a contemporary who is not usually biassed in favour of Native States that if they had not spoilt their case by killing Mr. Quinton and his companions the Manipuris would have done nothing but what was justifiable. The question however is not so much one of abstract justification or denunciation as of political expediency, and it will be easy, we imagine, to realize how supremely inexpedient it would be to tolerate in a single instance the doctrine that a State in political relationship with the Government of India may resist by force of arms the orders of its accredited officers. Doubtless the question how far such orders were warrantable or otherwise should be taken into account in deciding upon how the recalcitrant State shall be dealt with. But the principle for which we are contending is absolute and imperative, and it could not be ignored without profoundly modifying the whole conception of our relations with the Native States, not on the borders alone but within the heart of the Empire. Such an expedition as that which sets out to-day, though not vindictive, and only in a strictly defined degree punitive, must be disciplinary in its aims, and its first purpose must be to depose the men who have forcibly resisted the mandate of the British authorities. Whether sterner measures will have to be taken against the Maharajah and his step-brother is a question which need not be discussed now.

We published yesterday a letter from a correspondent who obviously has strong opinions concerning the political and military management of a mission which has ended so deplorably. In the discussion of an episode such as this an obvious advantage rests with those who are on the objecting side, and that consideration, we suppose, will not be lost sight of by people who may find in the narrative of the retreat from Manipur much that requires explanation. Prima facie the story is certainly of a kind that we have been accustomed to look upon as unusual in British military annals. Colonel Skene's force was vastly outnumbered of course. But if British troops had not, as a normal thing, been able to win battles against Asiatics, even when vastly outnumbered, the British Empire in India would never have been established. Where the preponderance of the enemy has been as much as ten to one the victory has almost always been on our side. We say nothing of the battle of Koregaum, the "Thermopylæ of India" as it has been called, when a force of five hundred Bombay sepoys and three hundred Irregular Horse kept thirty thousand of the Peishwa's army at bay for the whole day, and finally put them to rout; though Koregaum will answer the possible objection that a large European element is an indispensable condition of successful defence against a preponderating force. But illustrations of the possibility of overcoming the mere weight of numbers by skill and discipline, and the courage and confidence that the presence of British officers inspires, need not be sought so far afield as at Koregaum and Plassey or even in Mutiny records. The disparity in numbers at Thobal was certainly not less than that at Manipur, and there Lieutenant Grant was more than able to hold his own. It has been shown, too, that the force under Captain Boileau was by no means so destitute of ammunition as the original reports made it appear, for they carried off six boxes with them. It has been suggested that the cartridges were of no use, as they were for a different kind of rifle from that carried by the Goorkhas. But Captain Boileau's narrative, so far as it has been made public, does not confirm that statement, and we see no sufficient reason for accepting it. Besides, if the rifles had become useless, what had become of the always formidable Goorkha knife? Opinion may properly be slow in declaring itself as to the particular time at which the military operations began to take a wrong turn. They had certainly been misdirected before it became a question whether the Goorkha force could hold the Residency or not. Any plan of operations which made the issue dependent upon the power of a small force behind the Residency wall to stand out against the attack of the Manipur force sheltered behind a deep broad ditch and a loop-holed wall, and working a couple of disappearing guns, was essentially wrong. But before blame is attached to anyone for this it will be necessary to know how far the commander of the Chief Commissioner's escort had a free hand in making his dispositions. It will be noticed from Captain Boileau's report that the presence of Mr. Quinton had a very definite influence upon the strictly military part of the proceedings. It was the Chief Commissioner's desire to send in a letter to the Palace which led to the "cease fire" being sounded at half-past seven on the evening of the 24th; it was to the Chief Commissioner that Colonel Skene found it necessary to say that under no circumstances would his men surrender; lastly, it was the Chief Commissioner who told Colonel Skene that the Residency would not be tenable if fire were re-opened. These are incidents which will not be without weight when the facts are put together for final judgment to be passed upon them. But obviously the time for such judgment has not come yet, and this should be remembered in considering all such suggestions as those which "Laudator Temporis Acti" put forward yesterday.

A DISCUSSION upon what was alleged to be the alarming growth in Municipal expenditure in recent years came to a close yesterday evening after two meetings had been cheerfully devoted to a warm debate on a complete misapprehension. Mr. D. E. Wacha proposed that in view of the possibility of increase of local taxation in the near future, a committee of retrenchment consisting—as it turned out—of the unlucky number of thirteen numbers should be elected to cut down expenditure and secure what was termed greater soundness and permanence in municipal finance. In support of this proposal a formidable array of figures was adduced, purporting to show that while in the last five years the expenditure had grown by sixty-one per cent., the income had only increased by twenty-eight—a state of things which seemed to the proposer to forebode little short of municipal bankruptcy at an early date. The Municipal Commissioner examined the figures, and showed that by inadvertence a considerable balance in hand at the end of one of the five years was entered as expenditure, and that the expenditure in the five previous years used as a comparison did not include outlay on the fire-brigade and other matters. The result of the Commissioner's criticism went to show that the increment of income was in excess of the increment of expenditure. One-half the members placed on the list of the proposed committee either spoke against the enquiry or withdrew their names. One of the remaining half dozen proposed that the whole scope of the enquiry should be enlarged so as to take into its purview the enhanced expenditure, admitted to be unavoidable during the next five years, owing to an increase of the police force, the drainage of the unsewered parts of the city, the improvement of primary education, and in fact on all heads of Municipal administration. Mr. P. M. Mehta in an amusing speech gave his experience of a somewhat similar committee of retrenchment appointed two years ago to consider the new schedule settling the duties and the pay of all the employes of the Municipality. After sitting for some six months the committee at his instance decided to report against one particular appointment as unnecessary. When the matter came before the Corporation his seconder on the committee supported the appointment in question and it was carried; instead of being reduced the establishment was increased. In the result the array of figures which had given rise to so much discussion were referred to the Commissioner and the Standing Committee for examination and report, the general opinion being that the growth of Municipal expenditure during the last quinquennium affords no ground for alarm, being justified by the growth of the city and the steady increase of the Municipal revenue.

THE report of the Surgeon-General with the Government of Bombay on the Lunatic Asylums in the presidency shows that the total number of confined lunatics during the year was 1,006 as against 917 in 1889, of whom 828 were males and 178 females. Two hundred males and thirty-eight females were discharged, ninety-seven males and seventeen females being cured. Sixty-six males and twelve females died, a considerable increase on the previous year but due entirely to natural and unpreventible causes. Two hundred and ninety-two admissions and re-admissions were made during the year, and of these 79 were Christians, including 64 Europeans; 4, Eurasians; 11, Native Christians; 136 Hindus; 59, Mahomedans; 16 Parsees, and two of other castes. Of the sixty-four Europeans not fewer than fifty-one were soldiers. The types of insanity are shown in a table in the report, and from this it appears that the number of maniacs was 393,
